

Sharon Marr has worked as the Geriatric Medicine Division Director for the Department of Medicine, Faculty of Health Sciences, McMaster University, and Regional Geriatric Program central Chair for the HNHB/Waterloo Wellington regions, and St. Peter's Hospital/McMaster University Chair of Aging. She is currently working at Unity Health Toronto. Currently, Sharon is working at Unity Health and University of Toronto, Department of Medicine. Her focus is to develop interprofessional education, clinical, and research strategies which promote innovative evidence-based practice to seniors, caregivers, and academic/community partners. She has collaborated with expert geriatric health care educators to lead and launch the Geriatric Certificate Program, (GCP) an inter-professional educational program that provides health care providers and students with core geriatric competencies to care for frail older adults.

Jennifer Siemon is an Occupational Therapist and the Director of the Regional Geriatric Program central. Jennifer is an Assistant Clinical Professor (Adjunct) with the School of Rehabilitation Science at McMaster University.